Description

Billiard, snooker score board.
Life Pool score board made of mahogany by Turner and Price, Billiard Table makers,
45 Clapham Road , Show rooms 367, Strand, London.
The game can be played by a maximum of 12 players, who form the pool. Each player has his own coloured ball and loses a life each time the ball is potted by an opponent. When he loses all of his lives he is out of the game.
The score board consists of 12 slides with coloured ivory discs (representing the players cue ball) and each slide reveals 3 mother of pearl discs, one for each life. There are also six "stars" hiding down the central bar that pull out and are used as extra lives.
