Description

Cromer Golf Club, Painting.

A very competent, well executed water colour by unknown artist, painted on panel of 'CARDIAC HILL' on the course of Royal Cromer Golf Club. The painting is mounted and framed.

Founded in 1888 Royal Cromer Golf Club immediately attained royal status through the Prince of Wales' patronage, later to become King Edward VII. The original course was only 9 holes and was on rented land from the Suffield family. Old Tom Morris was invited in 1891 to advise the club on changes to make the club the finest of its kind and pave the way for a later 18 hole course.
