Description

The US Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta National.

A colourful golf lithograph signed in pencil by the artist, Arthur Weaver, of The 1968 U.S Masters in Augusta, Georgia. The picture depicting Fred Beard putting being watched by Gary Player with the two caddies on the fringe of the green in the classic traditional white boiler suits and green hats. Title of the print, Play on the 6th green, The Masters 1968 in Augusta Georgia. Gary Player watches Fred Beard. Published in 1969 by Venture Prints Limited of Bristol, England. Copyright in all countries, including the U.S.A.

The 1968 US Masters Golf Tournament in Augusta, Georgia, was the 32nd Masters Tournament. Bob Goalby won his only major championship, one stroke ahead of Roberto De Vincenzo, the reigning British Open champion. On the back nine in the final round, Goalby birdied 13 and 14 and eagled 15 to record a 66. At first it appeared that he had tied with De Vincenzo and the two would meet in an 18-hole Monday playoff, but De Vincenzo returned an incorrect scorecard showing a par 4 on the 17th hole, instead of a birdie 3. Playing partner Tommy Aaron incorrectly marked the 4 and De Vincenzo failed to catch the mistake and signed the scorecard. USGA rules stated that the higher written score signed by a golfer on his card must stand, and the error gave Goalby the win.

Frank Beard tied 5th with a 75, 65, 71 & 70. Gary Player tied 7th with a 72, 67, 71 & 72.
