Description

Antique Golf Club, Auchterlonie, St. Andrews.
A good original persimmon wood golf club, driver by Auchterlonie, St. Andrews. The club head is stamped 'Auchterlonie, Special, L' which suggests it is a lady's club. The head with lead weight to the rear with a horn sole insert on the leading edge. The original hickory shaft is marked 'Auchterlonie, St. Andrews' and is with a suede leather grip. A very nice original decorative golf club.

Auchterlonie was a family firm in St Andrews making hand crafted wooden golf clubs since it was established in 1895, by brothers Tom, David and Willie Auchterlonie. The brothers were sons of a St Andrews master plumber and were apprenticed to one of the famous Scottish club makers, Robert Forgan & Son, in the early 1890's. The Auchterlonie golf clubs were used by many of the top names in golf in the early 1900's due to the high level of quality and precision they offered.
Willie was 1893 Open champion at Prestwick and also professional to the Royal and Ancient from 1937-1963.
