Description

A rare, early lopsided (tilt head) lawn tennis racquet in excellent original condition. The ash frame is in very good condition with concave wedge stamped with maker's mark and the Royal Coat of Arms. The period thick gut stringing is in good condition and totally original. The maker is Henry Malings of Francis Street, Woolwich, probably one of the best-known makers of that time.

The racket is a lightweight Racket and probably similar age as a Sphairistike racket which were sold around 1874 and 1875.
