Description

Antique Taxidermy Trout Display in Bow Fronted Case.

This striking antique taxidermy tableau featuring a beautifully preserved trout, mounted in a glazed bow fronted display case. Presented against a hand-painted backdrop with naturalistic reeds, grasses, and riverbed detailing, the scene captures the calm, lifelike atmosphere of the fishes' natural habitat. Taxidermist unknown but well executed.

The trout is expertly mounted, showcasing its distinctive brown - silvery scales, full body, and characteristic fins. Mounted in a vintage ebonized bow fronted case, the piece has a timeless charm that makes it ideal for collectors of angling memorabilia, country-house décor, or Victorian-style natural history displays.

Bow front cases are more sought after than any other type, the float glass shows off the fish nicely and gives a greater impression of water. A unique decorative statement and a wonderful example of traditional taxidermy craft.
