Description

Gladstone Money Bag.

At first glance this appears to be a traditional style square mouth 'Gladstone' bag. Upon closer inspection, the handles are constructed of one piece leather that goes under the bottom of the bag, and with its heavy construction and size, these are all typical indications that this was manufactured as a money bag. It is made of brown leather, fitted with central push button brass lock, no key, with six brass studded feet on the bottom of the bag. The interior is lined in leather and is in excellent condition with two side pockets.
