Short Description

Mahogany Drop Leaf Dining Table.

An oblong side table with a single leaf, that when added makes a dining table. The back legs with double gate action to support the leaf, and when open the table top measures 50 inches by 51 inches, seating up to 8 people. A very versatile table that works well as a hall, side or centre table and when the leaf is added makes a wonderful dining, supper or bridge table. The leaf can be folded down or completely removed. The table top has a reeded edge, the side with ebony banding around the bottom edge and is with four reeded legs on brass castors.

This would most probably been part of a set of three tables. A double of this one and a central table that when all combined would make a large dining table.
